buried at his home "Marmaduke", Shelby Co., Tenn.

Pamela Massey, a daughter of Sussannah Nelson and Edward Massey married Elijah
Pulliam who was my great grandfather on Mother's side. (over)

This is taken from records of a Massey cousin. My grandfather, Elijah Pulliam, was the son of Joseph Pulliam and Lallie Carter. He knew Lallie and the Mary (in some records called Mollie) ~~was~~ who married Reuben Massey were his and think there was some connection with the earlier Carters. He don't know what the connection was but would like to know.

Sect. John Carter, <sup>III</sup> eldest son of "King Carter"

There is a tradition that the two Carter families, of Lancaster & Wmsbury were cousins -

Is it possible that John Sr. <sup>1690</sup> of Wmsbury was cousin to Robert ("King")? This John II who m. 1st Elizabeth Wornley, 2nd

Miss Loyd, may have had a son
John born 1790 & married Gamaline
— who?

There is a John in every generation
but no William Carter

Try tracing the descendants of John Carter (1620-1669) through his son, John I., & his descendants,
you don't find the connection with
"King Carters" descendants.

Our line goes in to both families that intermarried with each other.

I am interested to know
your result.

Sincerely,

Amelia E. Cuttiff,

My dear Mrs. Chapman:-

Many thanks
for telling me see your Carter notes,
same I do not connect up, + others
I have copied to add to data I have.

What family did "Tomaine" Carter belong - her maiden name?

I would like to know something of her line + also "Thomas

Michel. "I know Michel is a French name, - Michel masculine, + Michell
feminine, - no doubt a Huguenot
Refugee - to Va. was first immigrant.

Can you tell me who Col. Robert Reade married?

I wish so much I could help
you more with your Carter line
+ will give you all data I can get. I never before heard of the "public jailor," but always the merchant.

the Carter family must have been one of prominence to have married into such a distinguished one of Page Nelson, &
son of Nancy Carter to have married Sarah Walker Page, one of Va.'s most outstanding families! Therefore, I do believe it will "mark out" honorably.
The name "Robert" has come down in that family as well as "King Carter"
line - so, continue your hunt.

I am returning your notes here-in which were most interesting to me.

With all good wishes,

Sincerely,

Amelia E. Cuthuff,

Albany, Georgia.

The executors of the will of Samuel Carter
were distinguished in Va., which attests her standing.

I believe Sherriff (or "jailer") was a high office in Colonial days as it is in Eng. yet, look it up.

My dear Mrs. Chapman:-

Accept thanks
for your letter expressing interest
in the "Royal Line".

I am greatly interested to know that you are one of the "links in the Lang family chain".

There appears two typographical errors,
which please correct by striking
out the two lines above ("note")

It will then read: Mildred Reade married Col. Augustine Warner.
(not her brother, Col. Robt. Reade)

The "note" should have stated: Mildred Reade & Robt Reade, Sister & brother, descendants came together in the undersigned, Michelle Furlow & ~~Wm~~
Meriwether Furlow Jr.

The 2nd error is Maj John Nelson married ("Nancy") Anne Carter 1780
(instead of 1752)

With these corrections the data is correct!

My authority: Merivether Genealogical Book published years ago, now in the family; A genealogy published by E. A. R. 1900; Historical So. of Va.; Tanard's Colonial Register; Ibid;
The Page Family in Va., by Lbr. R. C. M.
Page; Compendium of American Gen.;
Bible Records; English & French
History & Encyclopaedia Britannica.

It took time & lots of reading & re-reading & checking of History to verify the facts before I submitted it for publication in a spirit of Co-operation.

I believe I can assist you with your Carter problem by this Record
here-in from old Carter Bible, published in London 1703 & now in possession of the family here.

There were two, or more, Carter families of Va., which is confusing, you are a descendant of two of them through both the Carter & Nelson families of Maj John Nelson & Nancy (Anne) Carter, as you will see for yourself.

Albany Ga.
Feb. 6 - 1934.

My dear Mrs. Chapman:-

How good of you to send the Photostat of the original
Will of John Carter I. of Lancaster Va. !
After careful reading, & copying, I am now returning it to you, by Registered mail, with a million Thanks for your kindness.

It is most interesting throughout,
& the spelling quaint indeed, "doe y<sup>e</sup>
noe think soe"?

My friend, Mrs. Davis, (Ria Carter) the possessor of the Carter Tree, chanced to come to Albany & coming to see me was so delighted to see her ancestor's Will,
of course! she & Nicholls decided their children had inherited spelling naturally from their ancestor, but I soon exploded their theory by proving the writing of the Will & the signature of <sup>Thos.</sup> Edmond to be identical - the D's & furnish the evidence conclusively.
No doubt, Thos. Edmond was his lawyer.

However I took pleasure in pointing out their inheritance of Faith, in the Episcopal Church, of which we are members, by reference to fact that their ancestor willed his Catechism to his sonne Robert.

To whom was his daughter Elizabeth married, Vtie or Utie? I puzzled out all the other words but am doubtful of this name - of course, none of us are of that line, but I am simply interested in all, & wish to copy it correctly.

I am confused as to which is the end of the will & end of the "Codicell", I placed nos. in faint pencil, that can be erased, as I understood it, but if wrong please correct me.

The will shows conclusively that Elizabeth was his "now wife" - his last wife - & her sonne, "whose name is intended Charles," must have been an infant, was he, (Charles) her son by a former marriage, or by John Carter? The will calls him "her sonne" until the very last when the term "my sonne" is used.

His sonne, John & Robert, there can be no doubt of, as they are so called every time mentioned.

John I. must have been 21 years old to have been Executor of his father's will & certainly he was living in 1669, & ~~not~~ died, as I copied the date, but as I stated son

the eldest son, who was generally named for the father.

The will states Robert (King) received "Corotoman". If the Lancaster Records have been destroyed the Land Office no doubt contains them. The Tax Books also.

If the estate of John Carter I & John of Williamsburg tally we will know they are of the direct line, don't you think?

The Page, Carter & Warmley families intermarried back & forth for generations, so there must have been plenty of all them in Va. which will make it harder to untangle,
probably, but very interesting.

The Warmley Genealogy may solve the question if Elizabeth married John Carter II.

Mann Page Jr. m. <sup>1st</sup> Judith Warmley, 2nd
Judith Carter dau. of Robt. (King) Carter.

Judith Warmley was the dau. of Ralf Warmley

The Page & Warmley families lived at Rosewell, Lancaster Co.
Va. This is from The Genealogy of the Page Family 2nd Edition by Dr.
Richard Chandler Moore Page.

Dates were indistinct, for instance, 1669 looked exactly like 1660 until by close examination with the magnifying glass I could see the tail of the nine which was like the 1669 shown in the Will.

John II died 1693, Twenty four years after his father's death.

It is probable that John I married, for his last wife, a widow Elizabeth Normley, & John II may? have married her daughter by former husband — ? of course, this is conjecture on my part. Old Records misused the term "in-law" for our "step" in expressing relationship of families.

I have ~~these~~ different records that ~~no~~ John II. married Elizabeth Normley.

Carter Bible from one branch of the family, the Carter Tree from another branch, & Bishop Meade's, & "The Outlook".

If I had access to the Records I would begin to trace from John Carter I. "my land & housing whereon I now dwell to my sonne John" & trace that land from generation to generation of ownership & see if "John Carter of Williamsburg" inherited it — that would be evidence of his descent as the old custom was that the "dwelling" went to

Also search Christ Church Records <sup>N.Y.</sup> for Baptisms, Marriages & Deaths.

I have had correspondence with Rev. G. Maclaren Brydon, Hist. & Treas. of the Diocese - The Mayo Memorial, The Church House of The Diocese of Va. 110 West Franklin Street, Richmond Va., who gave me most interesting & courteous replies. He is of the Page Family of Va. which intermarried into the Carter family - I have been thinking of writing to him but have not done so. Perhaps you have a personal acquaintance with him? He may be able to give valuable information.

In regard to the Michel Family - I have a list of the Manikintown Va. settlers - a Huguenot Colony in King H<sup>m</sup> Co. Va. in this list appears the name "Michel".

In my Huguenot Magazine - "Transactions of the Huguenot Society of S.C. 1933" is a sermon, preached Oct. 23-1933, by Rev. Conrad H. Goodwin M.A. B.D., is this: "Many notable Huguenot names are connected by inheritance & tradition with Manakin, Va., including that of Commodore Maury & Commander Byrd. Nicholas Martineau was a Huguenot of Va. The French Grandfather of Gen. Geo. Washington - The Huguenot at Manakin Town Va. were given the rites & immunities of the original settlers - 1690, 1699, & became a Parish in 1700; over 1000 Huguenots lived there & merged with English families & their lives renewed in the life of the Commonwealth."

Carter Rites At Ashland

Former Legislator Practiced Law Here

ASHLAND, Dec. 16. — Funeral services for Samuel Redd Carter, former member of the House of Delegates, who died at his home here yesterday, are set for 3 P. M. today from St. James the Less Episcopal Church, with burial in Woodlawn Cemetery at Ashland.

Mr. Carter represented Hanover and King William Counties in the House of Delegates for the sessions of 1920, 1922, 1924 and 1926 and attended the special session in 1923. He was 64 years old.

For many years he practiced law in Richmond, first as a member of the firm of Bryant & Carter and later as a partner in the firm of Carter, Crawford & Redd.

He devoted much of his time to his farm in Hanover County and took an active interest in promoting the improvement of dairy herds and the marketing of milk. He was president of the Richmond Co-operative Producers' Association for several years and held that position at the time of his death.

Mr. Carter was a vestryman of St. James the Less Episcopal Church and junior warden of the vestry.

Born on Sept. 1, 1876, in his mother's family home, Hybla, in Hanover County, he was the second son of the late Hill Carter and Emily Redd Carter. He received his early education at Nolley's Preparatory School in Richmond and later attended Randolph-Macon College at Ashland and the University of Virginia. He received his Bachelor of Law degree at the University of Virginia in 1898.

Surviving are his wife, the former Elizabeth Dozier Lee; two daughters, Mrs. Edmond Thompkins DeJarnette and Miss Mary Dozier Carter, and two sons, Richard Lee Carter and Samuel Carter, Jr., all of Ashland.

Celebrates 100th Birthday

MRS. CARTER OUTLIVES THREE CHILDREN.

GRANDCHILDREN and great-grandchildren had to take place of her children last week when Mrs. Catherine Ann Carter celebrated her 100th birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Carter has outlived her son and two daughters, and her five younger brothers and sisters as well. But today there were 12 members of succeeding generations to help console her for the loss.

Mrs. Carter, who lives with a niece, Mrs. John H. Carter, at 717 Kennedy street, has been a member of the Ryland Methodist Church since 1855. Only recently failing strength prevented her from attending services there, but Mrs. Carter's mind is active as ever.

Her husband, the late Maj. Henry Edward Carter of Prince William County, Va., raised his own company of militia prior to the Civil War and marched off to join Lee's army when war was declared.

Mrs. Carter, daughter of the late Robert Golden and Catherine Posey Golden, was born February 17, 1833, in the Golden homestead, Dunnington's Rest, Charles County, Md. She came to Washington as a girl and has lived most of her life here.

Mrs. Carter's younger brother, the late R. A. Golden, was one of the first wholesale commission merchants of Washington.

Mrs. Carter herself is something of an authority on family history and often recites it for the benefit of her great-grandchildren.

MRS. CATHERINE ANN CARTER.

It is easier for her to understand modern children, she said, than modern times.

"These times," she exclaimed, throwing up her hands in mock horror, "I do believe they'll get me yet!"

Restoration Is Marking 25th Year

By Harry Nash

WILLIAMSBURG—Colonial Williamsburg, the time machine that carries you back two centuries, is nearing the end of the first 25 years of its new life.

Product of one man's dream and another man's millions, the restored little city provides an educational short cut to political, social and cultural colonial life before the American Revolution.

Officials of Colonial Williamsburg estimate more than 6,000,000 persons have visited the city since the restoration of the Virginia colony's capital to its eighteenth century appearance was begun in 1926.

Of the $44,500,000 which John D. Rockefeller, Jr., provided for the restoration, more than $30,000,000 has been spent. To date, 675 buildings have been removed or demolished, more than 350 buildings reconstructed and 70 buildings and 80 gardens have been restored.

Officials expect to complete by 1958 the remainder of the project's physical aspects. These will include removal of 25 to 50 buildings, reconstruction of 100 more and restoration of a dozen. Some $5,500,000 will be spent on this. The remainder of Rockefeller's $44,500,000 will provide for contingent projects.

Chorley Outlines Policy

The past quarter-century has seen the American past brought alive over an area that covers 216 acres of the city. This has been done by Colonial Williamsburg, Inc., a nonprofit, educational organization formed by Rockefeller.

"If Colonial Williamsburg is to serve its real purpose," says its president, Kenneth Chorley, "its principal concern must not be with the bare bones of history, nor with research or architecture, nor with the restoration of buildings and gardens. Colonial Williamsburg is dedicated to the far larger task of preserving in a vivid form the great concepts of the leaders of Colonial times."

C. C. Hall, who has operated a drug store in Williamsburg for 40 years, says the restoration has had "a very favorable effect on the community's business life."

Twenty-five years ago, he said "merchants closed up and went fishing whenever they wanted to, as business was so slow. Today, they don't get much time for fishing."

He estimates the business volume of the average Williamsburg merchant is about 300 per cent greater now than in 1925.

"A few citizens have criticized the restoration project, but 95 per cent of them feel it has been a great thing for the community," Hall said.

"The critics were mostly older citizens who just didn't want any changes in the town. And even some of them are changing their minds."

November 27 will mark the end of the restoration project's first 25 years. On that date in 1926 Rockefeller authorized the late Dr. W. A. R. Goodwin, Episcopal minister of Williamsburg, to obtain preliminary architectural studies for the restoration of the city's central portions.

Dr. Goodwin, who had long dreamed of restoring ancient scenes, had been trying for two years to interest Rockefeller in the project.

After much research and surveying the first exhibit building was opened in 1932. This is the reconstructed Raleigh Tavern, where colonial patriots plotted over their ale to throw off England's yoke.

In 1934 two more reconstructed buildings were opened. These are the Capitol, where Patrick Henry protested the Stamp Act and was accused of treason and where George Mason's Virginia Bill of Rights became law, and the Governor's Palace, symbol of the Crown's power.

Many other restored and reconstructed buildings give visitors a look-see at the business and social life of their forefathers. Most are occupied by Williamsburg residents.

Operating and maintenance costs are met by charges for admission to the exhibit buildings, sales of reproductions and publications, rentals from stores and homes and profits from the operation of two hotels and several restaurants. These business operations are handled by a subsidiary corporation, Williamsburg Restoration, Inc.

Dr. Goodwin's enthusiasm has been communicated to many of the 1,100 persons employed by Colonial Williamsburg. A. Edwin Kendrew, vice-president and resident architect, whose staff includes 30 architects, archeologists, engineers and landscape architects, says his men spend many of their week ends hunting ancient foundations and inspecting old buildings.

Kendrew said the schedule of restoration and reconstruction has not "slowed down too much" despite scarcity of materials under government controls, and the loss of some construction workers to shipyards and defense jobs.

"We are now studying plans for reconstruction of the palace stables," he said. "We can go ahead with the stables, which require no critical materials."

Mrs. Philip Nelson, one of the costumed hostesses who escort visitors through the Raleigh Tavern, says, "I love the work." She has been a hostess since 1932.

"Each group of visitors ask different questions," she said. "Their questions stimulate me. Most visitors are deeply interested in what they see and hear."

Mrs. Nelson says the average visitor is impressed most by the Capitol. The visitors come from all over the United States. Great numbers have come from the West Coast. "I believe everyone in California has come here in the last year or two," she added.

Those responsible for the restoration of Williamsburg have a concept far broader than buildings and gardens.

John D. Rockefeller, III, son of the man whose millions restored the city and now chairman of the board of Colonial Williamsburg, told this reporter:

"Colonial Williamsburg must help make history—not simply serve as a reminder of history. Man's struggle to rise through oppression and tyranny to the light of liberty is eternal. The job is never done."

SOMETIME when you are with a small group start them out making simple monograms using their initials. You might even suggest that they design one to use on their bike, on their knife or sheath, or to put on the fly leaf of their books. If you have plenty of scratch paper handy and lots of pencils, you will get dozens of ideas you never dreamed of. That is, if your group has some people in it with ideas.

It won't be long though until your friends begin designing their own monograms. This is really what you are after, for people are always eager to have their own monogram worked out.

Letters can be set at all angles. They can be placed on top of each other and some can even be used backwards to complete a design. The first letter can be small, the next larger, and end up with a big initial for the last name. Just try your hand at your monogram.

LAUREL BARBER and her brother have had fun on rainy days in the past having their own doll show in their home at Ocean Bluff, Mass. They might even award Dicky White's "lucky pony shoe," which they will receive for their idea, to one of their dolls! When they dress the dolls and line them up, they make "ribbons" or awards cut from strips of bright colored wall paper and pin the awards to the dolls.

The dolls never feel badly, for even the oldest dolls receive ribbons labeled "oldest doll" and "next oldest doll."

Ribbons can be made to suit every doll, and they certainly will look fancy lined up with all of their ribbons pinned on with tiny safety pins.

Another idea is to surprise a few of your friends, and invite them over with their dolls to enter the show. Be sure that everyone gets a ribbon for each doll to take home. Serve crackers and milk for a doll "tea" party.

WHEN I was in school I remember how many of the students shook broom or mop-like fluffy paper strips displaying the school colors. Many of these were manufactured and sold to the school in lots of several hundred, but there is no reason why you can't make your own.

Get your gang together and buy two or three packages of each color of crepe paper representing your school colors. Cut half-inch dowel rods into 12-inch lengths for handles, or whittle 12-inch handles from tree branches. Take two sections of crepe paper 30 to 36 inches long, and cut long half-inch strips along one side, similar to the teeth in a pocket comb, leaving one side uncut for two inches.

When the stripping is all cut, start rolling and gluing the uncut edge of one color around the stick handle. Then glue on the next color round and round the stick. A rubber band or string will hold the paper even more securely. Fluff it out and wave it at your team!

PERHAPS you never realized before that acorns come in many shapes (types).

Some Carter Notes.

The continuation of certain given names is a help in unraveling the various Carter lines. The names of Giles and Theodorick seem to be almost exclusively of the Giles Carter of Henrico family. Robert seems to be common to all the lines as does John. Judith appears in the King Carter family, though it does occur in the line I am sending from Capt. Thomas Carter of Barford, Lancaster Co. Charles is common in King Carter family and not common in the others.

I recognize five established families- King Carter and his father John, Thomas of Lancaster, William of Surry, Giles of Henrico and Joseph of the Shenandoah Valley, who came in from Pa. There are no doubt others. But these have left descendants in Va.

In Essex Co. in Will Book 8. There are in the index seven wills of William Carters. I have no idea to what line they belong. I had no time to look them up.

In Albemarle Co. Both the descendants of Edward Carter of Blenheim (King Carter family) and the Thomas Carter of Barford family are represented. And I think some other strain is there also.

In Sept. 17, 1807, Mary Carter made a will which was recorded in Albemarle Co. June 1, 1812. She is named Mary Carter of City of Richmond, widow of Doct. William Carter of the same city. Estate received from her husband to go to son-in-law Charles Spencer of City of Richmond.

In Goochland Co. Some of the records are plainly of the Giles Carter family as the name Theodorick appears. And the records also relate to the King Carters before the division of Albemarle from Goochland Co. Thomas Carter seems to be the first of a line in Goochland and later in Cumberland Co. He can not be of the Thomas Carter of Barford, Lancaster Co. according to my ~~dates~~ dates. Thomas the first appears in a land grant in Goochland in 1730. There is a Thomas Carter will in 1735, naming sons Edward and Stephen. And another will made in 1726 and proven in 1738, (This last is no doubt the father of Thomas who died in 1735) naming children- Robert, Thomas, John, Edward , Elizabeth , Joseph and wife Penele (?) Carter. (In 1760 another Thomas Carter's will is made and proved in 1763.) The name Judith appears in his <sup>Grand</sup> daughters and Judith is the name of the wife of Charles Carter , son of Robert of the Thomas Carter will of record in 1738 . Charles was killed in the Rev. left a large family and married his cousin Judith , dau of Edward Carter of Goochland Co.

I surely think this line dovetails with yours. Miss Bass of the Va. Library suggested that they might be descendants of Surry, Carter family. I do not think I have ever seen a theory in print about their origin , but I had for some time, the impression that they were of the King Carter family.

James Carter and Sally his wife of Goochland gave a deed in 1800 to land on Sinking Hole Creek. He was Dr. James Carter. That may be Licking Hole Creek. I think that this James Carter is a grandson of Thomas and Penele. (That name was difficult to read.) If so he was related to Judith and Charles. William Carter of Goochland , whom, I pursued so relentlessly was a minor in 1776 , the date of his father's will, Charles Carter killed in Rev. in 1777. Charles' land was north of James River , while his father lived in Cumberland Co. south of the river. Robert, the father appears as Mr. in old records and Rev. Douglas held services at his house. It is from him the place called Cartersville in Cumberland Co. takes its name. I was told when at Cumberland Court House that some of his descendants live there at this time. My last day was spent there only three or four years ago. It is possible that these descendants might have some records or traditions that would be helpful in your search . A letter to the postmaster in Cartersville, if it is a mail station, might develop some clue.

Bishop Meade in "Old Churches, Ministers and Families of Virginia" Vol. 2, page 110 ; gives a sketch of the Carter family of 3.

John and Robert (King Carter) . He says that John Carter had a son Charles of whom nothing is known . Of John, the son , - "Of this branch we have no account" . This I judge is what you are trying to trace. This eldest son John appeared on the vestry books as a member of the vestry in 1666.

John the first of the name died in 1669 and was building a church on the site of Christ Church at the time . In six months after his death his <sup>John</sup> son presented it to the vestry. If you do not know this article, I think you may find it helpful.

John Carter

Through the destruction of records in the counties of James City and King William the <sup>absolute</sup> proof of "King" Carter descent for this family is still lacking, although the descendants have always claimed.

John Carter was living in Williamsburg in 1749 as proven in a will dated 1 year Tyler's Quarterly Vol. 6 page 212-13.

In the "Genealogy of the Page Family" by R. C. M. Page page 188 he is referred to as a prominent merchant of Williamsburg.

He married Jean Michell a descendant of the Michells of the Manakin Town Huguenot emigration. The marriage is proven and their children's births entered in the "Register of Bruton Church" edited by Dr. W. G. P. Davis page 126-128.

That he was a member of the "Committee of Safety from Williamsburg" is proven from his correspondence incorporated in the "American Archiver Series 4" - 1 page 1059.

Letter from Carey Mitchell
to Cary Selden 1775.
Directed to Col. Selden at Hampton

Norfolk, 23rd Nov. 1775.

Dear Sir;

I received your favor of the 19th, which much surprised me to find the little sloop stopped that I sent down on faith of the Committee, having granted me leave to remove my effects and she was by my direction to Mrs. Mitchell to receive on board such as were ready to be removed, tho I fully intended to have come down
in it, but I had positive orders to the contrary. As I suppose the reason of her being stopped
is that Thomas Hepburn is part owner of her, who I imagine is looked upon as a

Tory. I must inform you
he will be able to reinstall himself in the value of her by withholding the payment of some Country duties which he stands indebted for, but set aside this I hope when the Gentlemen come to reflect on the circumstance attending this vessel with regard to the Lizard she was sent upon being on the faith of their own determinations with regards to me, that they will give her up, as I could as well have sent some of the King's tender down and saved myself the expense which I waived entirely as I knew it would be obnoxious and Mrs.
Mitchell had received direction from some of the gentlemen of the Committee that any vessel
would be allowed to bring away

my things hit the Tenders. As to the hoghead of old Spirits which they have stopped - had it been new rum which I imagine would have answered
the purpose its wanted for better, they should have been exceedingly welcome to, but must say I should be glad the honour & faith which Mrs. Mitchell placed in the Committee had not been violated in this instance,
but still flatter myself when I assure them on my honor had I it in my power would supply them first with another hoghead
in the room and if they will allow it to be put on board the little sloop and she to take on some of my effects to be removed I will send another hoghead in its room. I should have no scruples of doing it kind, but in this I am overruled

by a superior power, and I give them my honor it shall be punctiliously complied with.
I must beg you'll represent this case to the Committee. I have sent you the hides which you desired by Mr. McClurg's
George as per enclosed account.
I hope you'll not fail being here by next Monday morning
as the Governor has determined to appoint another officer if you are not here by then, he would have done it long ago
if I had not interfered in your behalf. I am really much surprised that I should have met with such treatment from my Countrymen
at Hampton when I am sure they have never had the least reason to think me inimical
to the cause of my Country but in every instance as far as I

Could consent with the office
I hold - show myself as much a friend as any of them except I had given that office up which I believe there is not a man in the Colony would have done when there was one could have lived independent of it which I am sure I could not.
We have nothing new since I last wrote you, but the pass at the Great Bridge strongly fortified and I believe every man in this County - Princess Ann and a great many more from the Isle of Wight and Nansemond and large bodies from the adjacent parts of Carolina daily

coming in to the Governor for protection, which has entirely changed the face of affairs here which encouraged them to think they can with the assistance of the King's ships and forces here withstand the whole united force of the rest of the colony, but as to this it's not for me to give my opinion upon. I forgot to mention that there are also many from Maryland come in.

My compliments to Mrs Selden &c.
and God Grant us some happy
change and remain
Dear Sir,

Yours very sincerely
Cary Mitchell.
(written below)

Our Commission never consented to Mr. Mitchell's effects being carried to Norfolk in last month, but positively forbade it, notwithstanding several attempts were made to take them off secretly, and the skipper of the above mentioned vessel through the hears of the reginal of which this is a copy, expressly sent for Mitchell's effects on oath denied the whole truth and declared

his business was of a very different nature
